

Privacy Policy

We have taken all the reasonable steps to prevent any attack on your personal information. The passive information like the IP address, the time and date entered, the pages visited and the search terms used are usually recorded but not revealed. Unless otherwise stated, any information that has been shared with the website remains strictly private. If there is any change in the abovementioned privacy statement, same shall be mentioned on the website.